THE INSURANCE MARKET

The insurance market is extremely challenging at the moment with underwriters seeking premium rate increases across all classes of business. This can be attributed to:

The insurance market's reaction to Covid-19

An extended soft market cycle which has seen underwriters consistently underprice most risks. This is now being corrected as all insurers seek to make business more profitable (particularly Real Estate)

A number of significant weather related losses

Reduced capacity within the market as insurers respond to regulatory requirements in relation to capital reserves

THE BLOCK POLICIES:

Insurers were initially seeking a 12.5% premium rate increase but we are pleased to report that we have successfully negotiated this down to 7.5%, thus mitigating the cost increase as far as possible .
